MEN OF MARK.

Ex-Congressman Tom L. Johnson will soon return to Cleveland to live.

A beautiful and costly villa will soon be built for John Wamamaker at Narragansett Pier.

Dr. Nansen has settled down as a Norwegian squire and sportsman and is now a member of the great land owning class.

Alderman R. V. Barrow of Crofton, England, has offered a prize of £5 to the Crofton volunteer who first enters the William Astor Chandler, the millionaire congressman from New York, bears so striking a likeness to William J. Bryan that he is frequently mistaken for him.

The new peer, Sir John Lubbock, has decided to take the title of Lord Avebury from a property of his in Wiltshire on which is one of the oldest Druidical monuments.

Thomas D. Pile, the new lord mayor of Dublin, is an avowed Nationalist in politics and most popular with the masses, who love him for his large and unostentatious charities.

Ex-Secretary John Sherman said the other day that he was in better health than he had been for several years past. "I think I may see a little of the next century," he added, smiling.

The death of Richard W. Thompson of Indiana has left ex-Senator James W. Bradbury of Maine easily first in age among the surviving members of the congress of antebellum days. Mr. Bradbury is 85 years old.

George Dewey, Jr., the son of Admiral Dewey, has become a resident of Chicago and has been placed in charge of the western branch of the New York firm for which he had formerly worked as a traveling salesman.

Victor L. Mason, who is in the office of ex-Secretary Alger in Detroit, says the history of the Spanish war, upon which the general is at work, will be a simple narrative of the events and not intended for any purpose save that of history.

A new Japanese Strauss is in the field. He is a son of Edward Strauss and a nephew of Johann II and has already composed an opera. He is going to start this year on a trip around the world with "John Strauss Vienna orchestra."

George W. Peck of Milwaukee, ex-governor of Wisconsin, has been appointed by Governor Sevier as member at large of the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin. He succeeds John Johnson of Milwaukee, president of the board.

JEWELRY JOTTINGS.

Ladies' watches seen about equally divided between the important and conspicuous chain and the tiny timepiece attached to a long chain.

A graceful variation of the familiar ball topped hatpin is found in stones with flat top, set into a cup of pierced work decorated with brilliant.

Unusual earrings, such as oval, heart shapes, etc., occur in the east and west. The mounting being invisible, the slender band of the ring encrusted with tiny brilliants.

A novel feature of flat shaped gold mesh pendants and bags is the attachment at the bottom of a row of gold tassels and pendants. Turquoise cut in pear shape and pearls of irregular conformation are also used to form a sort of fringe of gems.

Fine gems are more than ever used on costly leather pocketbooks. The jeweled button fastening which first appeared in the comparatively modest guise of the turquoise now takes the form of a valuable diamond, ruby or the like. "Jewelry Circular Weekly."

Agreed.

"Away with the middleman!" said the man who was trying to revolutionize commerce and currency.

"Mister," answered Farmer Cornstossel, "you've got the right idea. I allow thought a minstrel show 'ud be better if they didn't have nobody into it but the end men."—Washington Star.

Grow Rapidly.

"This is good growing weather," said Manchester cheerily as he paused to exchange a few words with Northside. "I'd like to know what can grow in cold weather like this," growled Northside.

"Gas bills and coal bills."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Look Before You Leap.

Once upon a time there was a young man who believed what the books said. He left the farm and came to the great city to make his fortune and to climb the ladder of fame. The books said a great deal about the ladder of fame, so the young man exercised himself on copybook morals and poor Richard's almanac in order to be able to climb himself up a round at a time.

He was especially strong on runaway horses, and one day, to his gratification, he saw a mad steed plunging down the crowded street. He could not see any fainting maiden attached, but still he knew this was his opportunity. He sprang for the bridle, but hit the front wheel instead and was projected with violence into the gutter. Six months later, when he came out of the hospital, he was sent to the Home For the Feeble-minded for trying to stop a fire marshal in the performance of his duty.

Refrigerated Eggs.

Eggs become unwholesome when kept in refrigerators. A fungus forms in them which is easily found by the microscope, although it is not noticeable to the taste. The fungus constitutes a danger when we consider how many eggs are consumed by all classes of society, and people of delicate constitutions ought to be particularly careful that they eat fresh and not kept eggs.
